

Persona: Umer Saif The House Builder

Name: Umer Saif

Age: 38

Gender: Male; often accompanied by spouse for decorative decisions

Income: Middle class, PKR 80,000–150,000/month

Education: Graduate or above

Marital Status: Married

Location: Rawalpindi / Islamabad (Twin Cities)

Background

Umer is building or renovating his first proper home. He has been saving for years and wants to get every detail right. He visits multiple shops before making a decision, compares prices carefully, and haggles. He typically brings his wife along when choosing decorative lighting for living rooms and bedrooms.

Goals

- Find quality lighting that fits his budget
- Light every room appropriately both functional and decorative
- Complete his home setup on time without overspending

Challenges / Pain Points

- Overwhelmed by too many product options
- Unsure which lights are durable versus cheap
- Has to physically visit multiple stores to compare prices
- Does not trust online prices fears hidden costs or quality issues

Preferences / Behaviors

- Prefers in-store shopping wants to see and touch the product
- Price-sensitive; will negotiate before purchasing
- Buys in bulk lighting for multiple rooms at once
- Makes decisions slowly; often visits the store more than once

Communication Preferences

- WhatsApp for follow-ups and product availability queries
- Word of mouth and referrals from friends or contractors

Additional Information

- Often comes with a contractor or follows contractor recommendations
- Seasonal buying peaks: spring and summer when construction activity is highest
- Upper-middle class customers exist but are rare they typically do not negotiate and pay asking price immediately